GOVERNOR MORRISON'S APPEAL

Governor Morrison's appeal to the farmers to plant more of the food crops and prepare for the raising of stock, that more milk and butter and meat may be raised, is timely. He warns our farmers that the boll weevil is coming, and that we might as well prepare for the worst.

The boll weevil has changed the old order of farming further south into that of raising bread and meat, in many sections and has benefited those sections. Every farmer should first raise his living, and after this his money crop.

Notwithstanding the advent of the boll weevil the south seems to be raising sufficient cotton to take care of all demands upon the staple, and well may the question be asked, if it had not been for the boll weevil, what would have been the size of the crop and what would the farmers have received for it? In the present state of world trade eight million bales seem to be too many, and we have a surplus to carry over. Let us prepare for the boll weevil, raise our living and be independent of the money crops.

HIS HOME IS HIS CASTLE.

The editor of the Times has been subjected to considerable criticism for not having commented on the affair at the Briggs hotel Sunday afternoon and several have asked us what protection has a proprietor in a semi-public place. We did not comment on the case in the write up but gave the information from both sides as we found it. It was not our intention to comment on it but to leave the case with the courts to settle.

Some how or other quite a number of people have got it into their heads that The Times should spend its opinion on everything that happens in the community. This is quite a compliment to the Times, but it is hardly fair to the newspaper, since it does not want to assume such an attitude, neither do we desire to be loaded with the responsibility.

As far as the proprietor of a hotel is concerned he has the same rights that any other owner of property. His home and his place of business is his castle, and all who come there do so with the permission and consent of the proprietor. He runs his hotel to make money, and therefore must give his guests service and satisfaction. The hotel property is his property, and he has the right to say how it shall be used. The law gives him complete control over his hotel, and he has the right to refuse to let any one come in that he does not desire, and to eject from the hotel any one he wishes, and the majesty and force of the law are behind him. This is in answer to numerous questions as to what rights Mr. Cherry has as a hotel proprietor.

CHANGED THE ENTIRE ORDER

The New York World says that President Voliva at the head of affairs in Zion City which is a suburb of Chicago and run on the community plan has changed the entire order of things as far as his opinion is concerned. We quote from the World:

Mr. Voliva of Zion City has made some astounding celestial discoveries, which quite upset the calculations of every scientist who has dabbled in astronomy from the days of Copernicus down to Einstein. In the first place, the earth is a flat plane, surrounded by a wall of ice to prevent fool-hardy mariners from sailing over the edge into space. Secondly, and even more amazing, the sky is a great dome of solid material from which the sun, moon and stars hang like lighted chandeliers. As for relativity, there is none, nor gravitation either. Mr. Voliva has done away with them and the ne-academy, for whom the Republicans at Washington have been straining their eyes. Here is a man who would not stop at the advocacy of a tariff to restore prosperity at a time when prosperity waits on the resumption of trade with Europe, a man who would never be content merely to dodge the issue of the European debt. He could point out with confidence that there was no such place as Europe mentioned in the Bible and that therefore no such place existed, hence no war could have occurred there and the excuse of post-war hard times for any failure to take up legal paper would become ludicrous at once.

And with Europe and the war out of the way he could go on to the question of exchange and prove that there was no such question. There is nothing half-hearted about Mr. Voliva. Since there is no abroad at all, what is prevent us from fixing the tariff anywhere we like and making any amount of money out of it? Leadership is what the Republicans need, and imagination. They need, to put it frankly, Mr. Voliva to put the courage of their convictions into them and show them how.

SUPERIOR COURT TODAY.

With the exception of Carl Sawrey, whose case was not prossed, the Superior court was busy at the morning session with the case against B. F. Varnell who was charged with conducting a still and the case of J. T. Taylor, Walter Pittman white men and two negroes named James Hagan and Lawrence McKinney colored who are also charged with making and selling liquor.

In the first case against Varnell Deputy Sheriff Pearson stated that he received a phone message from a lady who informed him that Varnell was running a still. Sheriff Howard stated on the stand that he and Mr. Pearson went out one morning to the farm on which Varnell lived and that Varnell went with them to search the premises, and that they found the cap of a still in the tobacco barn, some meal mash at Varnell's hog pen, and further in the woods they found the still. Varnell denied all knowledge of the still. He said that the mash was made to feed his hogs, Mrs. Whitley who informed on Varnell was placed on the stand and said that she was a neighbor of Varnell. Mr. H. G. Connor, Jr., counsel for Varnell placed defendant on the stand and attempted to show that Mr. Whitley and he had some trouble over a car, and that the Whitley's were mad with him and that is why they revealed the still.

Mr. Connor presented this defense to the jury. The jury however found Varnell guilty.

In the case of Taylor, Pittman, Hagan and McKinney for making liquor on a farm located about six miles from Wilson in Gardner's township, evidence indicated that the two negroes were making liquor, and the white men lived in town and were the selling agents. According to Hagan, they would bring the sugar and other materials that went into the liquor about twice a week to the distillery. Hagan said the white men owned the still, Sheriff Howard testified that he repaired to the farm and found four gallons of liquor and several gallons of beer which he seized.

The jury brought in a verdict of guilty. This afternoon the court tried a white man named Ed. Woodard for slapping a little girl named Aggie Bell Williams daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Williams who live in the country. The jury was out as we go to press.

The court was busy this afternoon with the case of Tommie Lamm who runs a store on the road near Lucama in Cross Roads township. Witnesses stated that Tommy has been selling liquor for twenty years, and that his place has a bad reputation for liquor. That people are seen drunk around the place and stop there frequently. That as high as seventy five cents and $1.75 are paid for small articles, and there is no change back, except liquor.

Ed Dawes was found guilty of assault with a deadly weapon and found guilty. He was charged $50.00 for having the weapon and judgment was suspended for the assault.

BIBLE SOCIETY QUILTS
PRINTING ITS OWN BIBLES.
New York, Feb. 6.—After more than a hundred years of manufacturing in its own plant, beginning today the American Bible Society, which owns Bible House, Astor Place, will close up its press, electrotyping and composing rooms. To save money the millions of Bibles which it issues will hereafter be manufactured by contract with outside firms. The society issues Bibles in seven different languages.

The Trustees of the society may sell the entire building and relocate. The structure is too old and the rooms too small to house modern presses and the fire insurance rates are heavy, as the building is not fireproof.

In 1853 the Bible Society moved its manufacturing plant, and general offices from Nassau Street to its present site. At that time Astor Place was surrounded in large part by open country.

According to a statement issued yesterday by the society, during the last few years the cost of manufacturing has increased tremendously. In 1915 good Bible paper cost a little over 4 cents a pound. During 1920 it rose to five or six times this amount, and is still about 100 per cent. above the 1915 figure. The increased cost of labor over the same period reached its peak only in 1921.

After considerable experimentation in manufacturing through outside printing and publishing houses, even in Asia Minor, China, Japan and Siam, for many years, it was decided on Dec. 2 last to close the press, electrotyping and composing rooms on Feb. 1.

HELP NEEDED

For days, weeks and months thousands of destitute Jews in Eastern Europe have had no meat, no milk, no nourishing food of any kind. But to feed is not the only purpose of this campaign. The program is one of rehabilitation—of putting these people back upon their feet where they can help themselves. A state wide drive has been proclaimed by our Governor and Mayor for the week of February 6th to 12th, but don't wait to be personally solicited as none will be done in Wilson. Send in your subscription voluntarily. You will feel good for doing so. A few of the kind expressions accompanying contributions so far received from the big hearted people of Wilson are quoted below:

"I wish my ability to contribute to the fund in a large way was as great as my desire to do so."

"I sincerely trust all our people will respond generously to this cry of distress."

"Our hearts' desire is to help suffering humanity at all times and in all places when opportunity presents itself."

"I regard it as a duty to give this; only wish I were able to give more."

"My most cordial sympathy is with this call."

Only about $1,300.00 more is needed for Wilson's quota.

Don't hesitate to send in an amount because it is small. The feeling behind the gift counts for much; and an American dollar goes much farther over there than here.

"UNDER THE LASH."

Gloria Swanson, beautiful and accomplished star of "Under the Lash" her new Paramount picture which comes to the Wilson theatre tomorrow, is ambitious to be a writer. So she jots down her thoughts in prose and verse whenever she has the time. She is an admirer of Robert Louis Stevenson and other famous authors and reads a great deal.

"There is nothing finer, it seems to me," she says, "than to be able to write beautifully or powerfully or both."

Sam Wood directed "Under the Lash" which was adapted by J. E. Nash from the play "The Shulamite" by Edward Knoblock and Claude Askew.

The story deals with a young woman who is married off by her sordid relatives to a rough fanatical Boer farmer on the veldt in South Africa. He treats her as his slave and threatens her constantly with his whip. One day a young Englishman enters her life and she falls in love with him. The discovery of the truth by the husband provokes developments of the most dramatic character.

Miss Swanson's leading man is Mahlon Hamilton, well known player and others in the excellent cast include Russell Simpson, Lillian Leighton, Lincoln Steadman. Thena Jasper and Clarence Ford.

GOVERNOR WANTS CO-OPERATION FOR BETTER GARDENS.

(By Max Abernethy.)
Raleigh, Feb. 7.—Governor Morrison's decision to mail his latest proclamation direct to the morning papers of the State instead of having it released through the Raleigh correspondents in the usual way has raised the question whether his excellency is "viewing with alarm" the capitol city newspapermen.

The proclamation is an appeal for cooperation in the governor's "better gardens and more pigs and cows" program for North Carolina. Admittedly it was a most difficult piece of news to handle and it may be that because of this fact the governor thought it best to send the proclamation direct to the morning papers. No explanation is forthcoming at the governor's office, presided over today by his private secretary. Governor Morrison is in New York City this week looking after State bonds which have been sold.

No copies of the proclamation are available at the governor's office for afternoon dailies. If they fail to get it through the mails they can't be supplied.

This action raises the question as to whether all documents for public consumption emanating from the governors office in the future will be handled as today's proclamation. It cannot be learned whether this course will be followed or not. It is presumed Governor Morrison will set things straight when he returns to the capitol at the end of the week.

Appointment of the governor's commission to confer with him regarding the reorganization of the county government law is being looked forward to with interest at the capitol.

Governor Morrison thinks the present law is too antiquated and he will do his best to have it changed when the 1923 Legislature gathers. Just what changes he will recommend does not appear but it is known that one phase of county government the governor is displeased with is the handling of funds. A better system of audit will be strongly recommended, it is said.
